PS

Political Spectrum Test

Free 12-axis political quiz with 36 questions, instant results, and no signup.

12 AXES · 36 QUESTIONS · 5 MIN
Political Spectrum Test
Marx or Thatcher, Gandhi or Reagan — find out where you stand.
Take the Test →
POLITICALSPECTRUMTEST.XYZ

About

Political Spectrum Test is a free political spectrum test that asks 36 statements and scores you across 12 separate axes. Rather than sorting people into a single left–right or liberal–conservative line, it compares your pattern of answers with 50 editorial ideology profiles, from Marx and Thatcher to Gandhi and Reagan. The standard quiz takes about five minutes, needs no account, and keeps your answers in your browser. Optional 60- and 240-question formats add more depth, while research modes can create local pseudonymous records only with explicit consent.

What is Political Spectrum Test

Political Spectrum Test is a free political spectrum test that uses 36 default statements to measure opinion across 12 separate axes covering government, world affairs, economy, and society. Instead of a one-dimensional left–right score, the tool calculates a pattern and finds the nearest reference among 50 ideology profiles — including traditions such as anarchism, Marxism, Thatcherism, Gandhism, and Reaganism. The default questionnaire takes about five minutes; optional expanded versions with 60 or 240 statements sample more items per axis. Every statement uses a five-point agreement scale, and progress is saved automatically in the browser, so you can close the tab and resume later. The results page does not load third-party analytics in the ordinary mode.

Key features

- 12-axis scoring across four domains: government, world affairs, economy, and society; this preserves differences that broad labels such as left, right, liberal, or conservative often collapse.
- 36-question default quiz, with optional 60-question and 240-question depths that take roughly eight and thirty minutes respectively.
- Five-point agreement scale for every statement to keep response format consistent and quick.
- Automatic browser-based progress saving so a partially completed test can be picked up later without signup.
- Comparison against 50 editorial ideology profiles using mathematical distance; the closest match is reported with a similarity index.
- Ordinary quiz answers remain in the user's browser and do not load third-party analytics on the score-bearing results page.
- Optional field and test–retest research modes generate pseudonymous JSON records locally, but data leaves the device only when the participant downloads and deliberately delivers it to a study coordinator.

How to use it

- Open politicalspectrumtest.xyz in a web browser and select “Take the Test.”
- Read each of the 36 statements and choose one point on the five-point agreement

If you want a more detailed result, switch to the optional 60- or 240-question format; these take about eight and thirty minutes, respectively.

Close the tab at any time; your place will be saved locally, and you can resume from the same browser later.

Submit your answers to see a 12-axis score pattern and the nearest ideology profile from the editorial library.

Interpret the similarity index as a distance-based editorial comparison, not a percentage of agreement or a psychometric accuracy score.

For research use, enable the field or test–retest mode only after reading the consent details; records stay on the device unless you choose to download and send them.

Who it is for Political Spectrum Test suits people who want more detail than a single left–right or liberal–conservative label. It is useful for students, educators, and discussion groups exploring how views on government, world affairs, economy, and society can vary independently. It also fits casual quiz-takers who prefer a free, no-signup experience and do not want their answers stored on a server. The optional longer formats appeal to individuals who want a broader sample of statements per axis within the same five-point agreement framework. The research modes are intended for coordinators running field studies or test–retest projects, because they create pseudonymous local records rather than sending data to the site owner.

What to know before you use it

This is not a validated psychometric instrument; longer quizzes sample more statements per axis but do not turn the result into a scientifically certified personality or political typology. The ideology matches come from an editorial library of 50 traditions, and the nearest match is based on mathematical distance, so the similarity index is not an accuracy rate or a probability. The standard quiz keeps answers in your browser, but clearing browser data will remove saved progress; there is no account recovery. The optional research modes require explicit adult consent and only send data if the participant downloads the record and delivers it to the study coordinator — the site itself does not collect those answers. If you need an official political classification, legal advice, or a clinically validated scale, use an appropriate institutional source instead of this entertainment-style quiz. Overall, this political spectrum test is best treated as a structured conversation starter, not a final verdict.

FAQ

How long does the test take?

How long does the standard Political Spectrum Test take?

Why does the test use 12 political axes?

Do I need to sign up or pay to use it?

How accurate are the results?

What makes the 12-axis approach different from a left–right political compass?

Do you store my answers?

What does the similarity index mean in my results?

Which ideologies can the test match me with?

Does the research mode store my answers online?

Sponsored

Belay – Awa... Featured
Developer Tools

Partly Featured
Finance

View ↗

Free # Finance

View ↗

Visit website ↗

political-spectrum-test

Pricing	Free
Category	Education
Platform	Web
Launched	Aug 2026
Updated	12 days ago
Verified	14 days ago

TAGS

political quiz # ideology # ideology test # politics # quiz # 12-axis # browser-based # political compass # self-assessment # 12 axes # free # no signup

Dir Hub

A curated directory of small, well-made apps. Browse by category or search to find the right one in fewer clicks.

DISCOVER

Home

Pricing

PS Political Spectrum Test

© 2026 Dir Hub